

We Are

Albany Area Primary Health Care

Albany Area Primary Health Care (AAPHC) is one of the largest physician groups in Albany, Georgia and one of the state's largest Community Health Centers. Our organization provides high quality health care to residents across nine Southwest Georgia counties.

AAPHC is comprised of 27 locations, 26 clinical sites, a pharmacy, and one administrative location. Additionally, our physician group includes over 70 providers that specialize in Family Medicine, Internal Medicine, Pediatrics, Obstetrics and Gynecology, Midwifery, Podiatry, Behavioral Health, Optometry, and Dentistry.

As a Level III Patient Centered Medical Home, our focus remains on raising the quality of care for our patients while reducing a patient's overall costs. Our quality measures, and focus on providing an exceptional patient experience, has garnered AAPHC national recognition and awards.

Engaging with our physicians, advanced providers and health care providers is the No. 1 strategy that drives our overall success. Our Providers play a key role in the direction of our physician group and how we're growing towards the future and improving health care for our patients.

What is a Community Health Center?

Community Health Centers are clinical practices of primary care providers available to provide medical care to all individuals, no matter a person's socioeconomic status. A community health center is located in an area where there is a HPSA and MUA designation. HPSA (Health Professional Shortage Area) stands for the physician to population ratio. MUA (Medically Underserved Area) includes such things as the HPSA, infant mortality rate, percent of poverty for the area, and percent of elderly population.

At AAPHC, we are proud to make our services available, affordable, acceptable, and accessible to all. We believe that all of our local residents deserve access to quality health care.
