Course Description and Target Audience

This course is an overview of evidence based practices when working with immigrant-origin clients. According to the Census Bureau, immigrants who have arrived in the US over the last 4 decades represent a wide range of cultures, ethnicities, and races. This diversity of cultural values, beliefs, and practices provides a challenge to the mental health providers.

The target audience is mental health providers (advanced doctoral level psychology trainees, psychologists in practice, master's level clinicians etc).

Learning Objectives

- Review the demographic profile of the U.S. immigrant population
- Discuss the major mental health challenges faced by immigrants
- Describe gaps and barriers to mental health services immigrants face
- Explain current recommendations for working with immigrant populations.

Video Homestudy Format

CE's for this homestudy training will be earned through completing the following tasks:

- Watch the presentation video and review all provided documents in their entirety.
- Pass the post-test questionnaire with at least 80% correct (10 of 12 questions correct).
- Fill out a program evaluation form.

Presenter Information:

Judith R. Gonzalez, Ph.D. is a bilingual licensed psychologist and marriage and family therapist.
