Course Description and Target Audience

Courts often are faced with matters where psychological problems are apparent and problematic. Diagnostic considerations of a varied nature can often bring challenges for courts and parents in understanding how to manage these diagnoses and the impact they may have on parenting behavior. Specifically, a rather unexplored area involving diagnostic considerations and its impact on parenting behavior is the domain of sexuality related concerns. This course will identify diagnostic considerations related to problematic sexual functioning, as well as non-diagnostic but potentially problematic sexual behavior. This course will also examine the risks associated with sexualized behavior patterns and the impact they have on a parent's functioning and the potential impact on the child while providing discussion of reasonable and cogent interventions. Additionally, the panel will provide a discussion related to which risk factors should prompt attention from the family law professional and which behaviors may suggest a more benign presentation.

The target audience is mental health providers (advanced doctoral level psychology trainees, psychologists in practice, master's level clinicians etc).

Learning Objectives

- Learn about sexually variant diagnostic categories and criteria
- Learn about sexually variant non diagnostic criteria
- Learn about the risk factors related to these problems
- Learn about the research regarding benign factors in sexually related behaviors
- Learn about sound and reasonable interventions with problematic sexually behaviors

Video Homestudy Format

CE's for this homestudy training will be earned through completing the following tasks:

- Complete the pre-test questionnaire (10 questions).
- Watch the presentation video and review all provided documents in their entirety.
- Pass the post-test questionnaire with at least 80% correct (8 of 10 questions correct).
- Fill out a program evaluation form.

Presenter Information:

Lori Schwartz, Ph.D., is a licensed psychologist and certified sex therapist in private practice in Kansas City, Missouri. She has spent the last twenty years evaluating over 100 cases per year, many with sexually related concerns. She also has extensive experience in the assessment of adults, adolescents, and children with emotional and behavioral concerns. Evaluation referral questions include a focus on child custody cases as well as diagnosis and treatment recommendations for adults and children. She has provided court testimony for cases with a wide range of concerns, including adaptive functioning and treatment recommendations for various diagnostic categories.

Larry V. Swall is a family law attorney in Liberty, Missouri, with Swall Hutchings & Associates LLC. His private practice is concentrated in areas of family law and domestic relations, including domestic mediation. In 2009, Mr. Swall was twice honored by the Missouri Bar Association, first as the Roger Krumm Family Law Practitioner of the Year Award; and , second with the distinguished President's Award for extraordinary service to the Bar.
